The Buell Early Childhood Leadership Program (BECLP) is seeking early childhood professionals who are committed to positive change for early childhood programs, policies, and practices to advance equity, excellence, and opportunity for all young children and their families. The program offers an 18-credit graduate certificate in the field of early childhood leadership that can also be articulated into one of several master's or doctoral programs in the School of Education and Human Development at the University of Colorado Denver.

MINIMUM QUALIFICATIONS

Applicants must meet the following qualifications to apply to the program.

- Conferred bachelor's degree by May 2021
- Direct experience working with and/or on behalf of children birth to eight and their families in the field of early childhood health, mental health, family support, or early learning that has informed leadership practice.

APPLICANT CONSIDERATIONS

All applications are reviewed by an admissions committee to select a cohort of 18-22 students. The admissions committee considers the following in each applicant:

- openness to learn and apply leadership practices
- commitment to participate and contribute to a diverse cohort
- demonstrated professional competencies and potential
- strength of academic record

TUITION

Generous funding by the Buell Foundation provides for each admitted student (Buell Fellow) to receive the full tuition for the 18 required credits. Fellows will incur costs throughout the year related to books, travel, and lodging while attending classes in Denver.
