

MA Special Education

This degree plan does not include a license or an endorsement.

Students are responsible for reviewing the Special Education Resources website regularly, including the SPED Handbook and SPED course rotation: <https://education.ucdenver.edu/academic-services/student-resources/graduate/special-education>
SPED courses may be offered in online, hybrid, remote, or face-to-face formats. SPED course formats can vary by semester and some courses are offered only once per year.

In consultation with the approval from your Faculty Advisor, select 3 courses (9 semester hours) of graduate-level SPED core coursework and 5 courses (15 semester hours) from the Thematic Course Categories (or any graduate-level School of Education & Human Development coursework with Faculty Advisor approval). Finally, take a research RSEM course (3 credits) and complete SPED 5401 Advanced Seminar in Special Education which fulfills the capstone requirement (3 credits) for a total of 30 credits.

Degree Components	Courses	Credits	Semester Completed
Choose 3 courses (9 semester hour credits) SPED coursework, 5000-level or higher Use this planning document to write in proposed/completed coursework
SPED Core	SPED _____; Course Title:	3
	SPED _____; Course Title:	3
	SPED _____; Course Title:	3
Choose 5 courses (15 semester hour credits) from the Thematic Course Categories: https://education.ucdenver.edu/academic-services/student-resources/thematic-course-categories or any graduate-level SEHD courses with Faculty Advisor approval; 15 credits required
Course 1		3
Course 2		3
Course 3		3
Course 4		3
Course 5		3
Research Course	RSEM 5080 Research in Schools OR Faculty Advisor approval for any graduate-level RSEM course 5000-level or higher	3
Capstone Course	SPED 5401 Advanced Seminar in Special Education (to be taken in your final Fall or Spring semester)	3
Total Credit Hours		30 minimum	