

Change of Faculty Advisor Request

The opportunity to change faculty advisors can only be made with the mutual agreement of the current and proposed advisor, along with the student requesting the change. Since faculty advisors are assigned at the time of admission to the program, it is not unusual for students to find themselves developing research and career interests that are a better fit with faculty other than their assigned advisor. It is appropriate and fitting that students try to find the best match they can between themselves and their advisors.

This form is to be filled out by the student requesting the change in advisors and signed by both the current and proposed advisors. Submit the completed and signed form to the appropriate staff academic advisor for processing.
