The PsyD Program operates on a cohort model so transfer credits typically do not affect time to completion.

PROGRAM COSTS

The cost of attending the CU Denver PsyD program varies depending on residency status. The information in the table provided below represents three semesters (fall, spring, summer) of tuition, both in-state and out-of-state. The PsyD program is a member of Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education (WICHE). If you live in one of the Western states (Alaska, Arizona, California, Colorado, Hawaii, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Washington, or Wyoming), you may qualify for in-state tuition. Applicants who reside in other states may obtain Colorado residency after one year.

Our doctoral students have successfully completed internships in a number of different sites, primarily in Colorado. The majority of our doctoral students pursue school-based internships, which are typically paid with a stipend.

*Students who matriculated from the Educational Specialist Program

Upon admission, students are matched with a program advisor and a student mentor to provide support. Faculty work very hard to support students and guide them toward successful completion of their degrees. Since the program was approved by the CU Regents in 2014, our attrition rate has been 5.9% (9 out of 151 students).

Licensure

Outcome	2013-2023
The total number of program graduates (doctoral degrees conferred on transcript) between 2 and 10 years ago ( our first cohort graduated in 2016 )	100
The number of these graduates (between 2 and 10 years ago) who became licensed psychologists in the past 10 years	19
Licensure percentage	19%

Our program was initially accredited by APA in April, 2018. Most of our recent graduates are licensure candidates and are not yet eligible for licensure. In addition to licensure as a psychologist, our graduates are also eligible to be credentialed as School Psychologists with the state Department of Education. This licensure/certification has been obtained by the vast majority of our graduates (91%). The students who have not obtained the school psychologist credential completed a post-doctoral fellowship and are either pursuing licensure or have obtained licensure.
